EGG-CELENT TIME!

This week we have used a fabulous book called Egg Drop to focus the children's learning.

One of their challenges was to build a "nest" to keep an egg safe from being broken. We looked at lots of different materials before coming up with our final designs. There was also much egg-citement when the designs were tested by dropping an egg onto them. Afterwards we cracked open the eggs and eggs-plored the contents. Later in the week we took full advantage of the slightly milder weather and went nest building in the Wilderness Area. The children love spending time in there and it always results in wonderful team work and learning. What a cracking time!

KANDINSKY ART

The artist Wassily Kandinsky has been inspiring our creative and mathematical learning this week. The children particularly loved his painting of concentric circles, so given that it was a dry day we decided to make our own large-scale version outside by painting the playground floor. Not only did the children create a beautiful masterpiece, but they also gave their back and shoulder muscles a good workout (essential for building stamina for writing).

WELL-BEING WEDNESDAY

We LOVED our yoga session that we had as part of our wider well-being learning. Ommmmmm!

MILK

Just a little reminder that when your child turns 5 they are no longer entitled to free school milk. If you would like your child to continue having a drink of milk with their morning snack then you can pay for it through the Cool Milk website (coolmilk.com). Please ask Mrs Moss if you have any queries.

Have a good weekend. The Early Years Team
