Well-Being

Characteristics of Effective learning

Playing and Exploring – Being willing to have a go. In free play, encourage your child take risks and learn by trial and error. It is tempting to step in to avoid mistakes and disappointment but this is the best moment of learning.

PSHE

Talk about rules and routines. How do rules at home differ from rules at school?

Physical

Get involved in the Travel to Tokyo Challenge! I have set up a Reception team so that you can log any physical activity you are doing at home and we can see what that all adds up to! Follow the link <https://www.getset.co.uk/travel-tokyo> click on 'Families' and search for our school using the postcode HG4 4EG. Find your team 'Reception Rockets' and away you go! They also have lots of different activities for you to try on their website.

English

Communication and Language

Following instructions. Have a look at a recipe or the rules of a game. Can you follow the rules in a different order? Would you get the same results? Can you take it in turns with your parents to give and follow instructions?

Literacy

Keep practising the phonemes you are not sure of.

Keep reading and sharing books, magazines or comics with your family.

Write a note to a friend you are missing.

Cheeky challenge: Can you add a question for your friend to answer?

Mathematics

Number – Adding two single digit numbers. Try adding the numbers on two playing cards or dominoes together. Can you use different cards but get the same answer?

Time – Set a timer on your iPad or phone to go off on the hour. Check an analogue clock to see where the hands are. What do you notice?

Cheeky challenge: Can you do half past too?

Understanding the World

Learn about similarities and differences in relation to places, objects and materials. Draw a map of a local walk. What are the main things that you saw? Will you use a key to make it easier?

RE

Where do we belong?

Think about who you care for and how you know that you are cared for. How do we show people they are welcome? Has this changed in recent weeks? Can you make a poster for your window to show your care for others?

Design and Technology

Make a collage from magazines or leaflets you have in your home. Tell your Family a story about your picture.
